About The Dealertrack UI Style Guide

Goals

This style guide was created for the purpose of documenting a core set of Dealertrack UI standards for application across all of our branded and, where appropriate, white labeled solutions. A key goal of the style guide is to help achieve visual and brand consistency across all of our web properties and applications.

Benefits

The primary benefit to our clients will be the intuitiveness by which they can navigate from product to product and feel that they intuitively know how to use our designed solutions due to the consistency of design. This will result in faster learning and easier cross-solution adoption.

Other key benefits for our Dealertrack teams are:

1. Accelerate project development with the help of a complete toolkit.
2. Reduction of inconsistencies, and a lower maintenance burden in the future.

General Style and Design Principles

The general principles established in the DT 2.0 interface should help inform the design of all new Dealertrack interfaces. These include color, icons, typography, layout, buttons, and forms.

Consistency of application of these guidelines is desired, but thoughtful innovation is welcome to help this guide grow and adapt as new technology and properties are introduced. This document is meant only as a guide, not a strict rule book. Don't hesitate to email ui@dealertrack.com if you have any questions or suggestions for the team of designers governing the Dealertrack UI Style Guide.

Extending the DT 2.0 design to other Applications

For new functionality and design, a Dealertrack User Experience designer should review any new design that has been created to ensure that the new designs follow the Dealertrack styles, and that the functionality is clear and intuitive to the user.

The launch version of this guide does not include mobile specific designs. Further updates will be introduced over time, but the existing pattern used in Dealertrack Mobile can be considered the current basic template for these applications.

Example Usage

Example 1: I need to create a new page in DT 2.0

Reference the Page Layouts section.

1. Find a page layout that works for your page.
2. If the page is related to a deal jacket, use 02.01. Layout A - Jacket Page
3. If the page is a form, and is a sub-page of a global page, use 02.03. Layout C - Settings Form Page
4. If the page is a simple form, try 02.05. Layout E - One Column Form Page
5. Once you've selected a page layout, you can add in modules, or form elements

Example 2: I need to display a read-only data table on a page

1. Reference the Table examples in the Modules section

Example 3: I need to create a form to capture dealer data

1. Start with 02.03. Layout C - Settings Form Page or 02.05. Layout E - One Column Form Page
2. For information on how to create forms and handle errors, please reference the forms section.

Example 4: I need to create new functionality

1. You should first look through and see if desired functionality exists in the Modules section
2. If you don't see anything in modules, look at Twitter Bootstrap to see if the functionality exists
3. The new functionality should be designed to look and feel like existing modules

How to add to this Style Guide

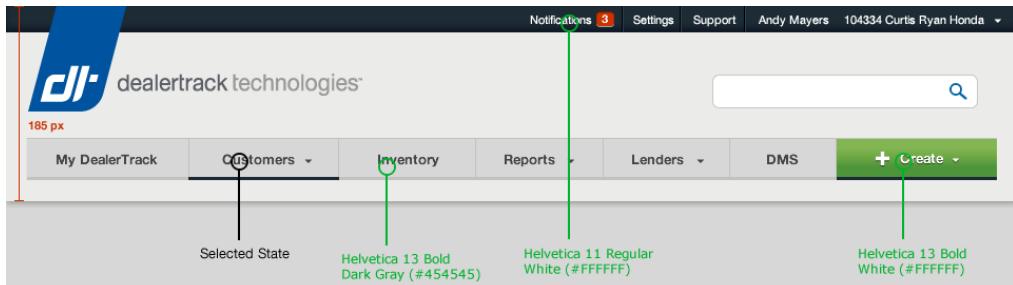

Style guide pages are created using Adobe fireworks and Confluence. New Pages and new sections may be added as needed. It is recommended that you copy an existing page format and edit it. You can also reference confluence documentation for more information about creating and editing pages.
